Mr. Timothy Power
Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary
Continental Building Products
12950 Worldgate Drive, Suite 700
Herndon, Virginia 20170

Dear Mr. Power:

Congratulations on your decision to join ENERGY STAR® and over 5,300 organizations nationwide that recognize the value of strategic energy management. By making a commitment to improved energy performance, Continental Building Products is on the way to enhancing its bottom line while demonstrating environmental leadership.

We at the Environmental Protection Agency applaud your decision to become a part of ENERGY STAR and look forward to working with your Corporate Energy Manager, Scott Walton, to improve Continental Building Products' energy performance and promote its participation in the partnership. One of our Strategic Energy Management Advisors will contact Mr. Walton soon to help your company benefit from ENERGY STAR's resources.

Enclosed you will find a report on the recommendations of leading executives identifying robust business strategies to keep business strong as we face an uncertain energy future. Importantly, a primary conclusion is that senior executives are the key to developing robust energy strategies and both challenging and enabling their businesses to succeed. I urge you to read this report and make use of its advice.

Your decision is an excellent example of how government and industry can work together in a voluntary manner to promote energy efficiency as a smart business strategy and to show exceptional environmental leadership. Welcome!

Sincerely,
